It At Hand(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Jan. 30.—Germany today renewed widespread air attacks on shipping along the east coast of the British Isles and Britain reported one of the Nazi raiders had been shot down.

Shore watchers saw one British patrol vessel attacked and escape unharmful. Jets of water rose from either side as she zig-zagged to dodge two bombs dropped from a low-flying Nazi plane.

British fighters then chased the invader into the clouds where the pursuit continued. Fighters were in action against other German planes over several east coast towns.

A German warplane bombed vessels off the east coast town of Yarmouth today, the air ministry announced.

"Results Not Known"

Results "are not yet known," said the air ministry's first announcement. The attacker was pursued by a Royal Air Force fighter plane and coastal patrol machines.

In addition to a continuation of the war on shipping—it was estimated that from 15 to 20 German planes took part yesterday, attacking 14 vessels with bomb and machine-gun—German planes flew low over British coastal towns today.

Two German planes flew low over the northeast coast of Scotland while a third craft twice circled a Kentish coast town, in southeast England, at a height of less than 700 feet.

Confronted with a possibly ominous stepping-up of German air raids, Britons wondered if a lightning war against shipping might be at hand.

They found proud comfort in reports that yesterday, in the worst winter storm of nearly a half-century, the flying guardians of the coast still could fight when land traffic was almost paralyzed.

Tank Never Did
Get Thawed Out

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y.—A 20,000-gallon railroad water tank froze, and workmen attempting to thaw it, accidentally set fire to the supporting wooden structure.

Firemen were called, but found the hydrant frozen. By the time they thawed it, they found the hose nozzles frozen. By the time the nozzles were thawed, the hose had frozen.

Then a locomotive drew up, and the crew threw hot water from the boiler on to the fire and left. The fire broke out again. Firemen got a new hose and extinguished the blaze.

The water tank never did get thawed.

Green Blasts Labor Board

William Green (right), head of the American Federation of Labor, confers in Washington with Representative Howard Smith, of Virginia, chairman of the House committee investigating the National Labor Relations Board. Charging the board with malice and bias, Green said its administration of the Wagner Act is "contrary to both the spirit and letter of the law."

F.D.R. 58 TODAY,
"FIT AS FIDDLE"That's His Physician's
Verdict on Birthday
Anniversary(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—President Roosevelt is 58 years old today, and "fit as a fiddle" for either another hard political campaign or the tapering off of a spectacular career in public office.

Which course he will choose remains a mystery. Whatever the decision may be, his physician, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, says that Mr. Roosevelt is in as "perfect condition as any man of his age could be" for the years ahead.

Celebrates Quietly

The President was celebrating his birthday anniversary in a quiet and traditional manner. Throughout the nation, however, the day was being observed with parties and programs to raise funds for a campaign to halt the ravages of infantile paralysis.

Mr. Roosevelt, of course, was taking recognition of that campaign, in a brief radio address tonight to the thousands gathered at birthday balls from coast to coast, and in a chat with a host of movie stars who came to Washington to help make the parties here a success.

White House officials tried to postpone the usual Tuesday press conference until Wednesday.

They announced, however, that he would have a birthday message for congress. Appropriately enough, in view of the drive against paralysis, the chief executive drafted a message outlining his views on starting a $10,000,000 program of constructing small hospitals in communities now without facilities.

Cake Has 21 Candles

In accordance with Roosevelt family custom, the President's birthday cake bore only 21 candles. Members of the family and a small group of old "cronies" will dine at the White House this evening to watch the President cut the cake.

As he passes another milestone, Mr. Roosevelt is a bit grayer at the temples and the seams in his face are a bit deeper. Otherwise, Dr. McIntire said, the strenuous years in the White House have left little mark on him.

Seal Sale Reminder
Cards Are Sent Out

Christmas seal reminder cards have been mailed to 3,400 county residents, official of the Columbiana County Public Health league announced today. Reminder cards were sent to persons who had received Christmas seal letters, but who thus far had made no response to the appeal.

Sixteen thousand Christmas seal letters were mailed to Columbiana county residents on Dec. 1. Replies have been received from 10,000 contributors, it was announced.

In some cases reminder cards were sent to persons who had already received their contribution. This error had occurred because of unknown duplications in the Christmas seal files, health league officials stated.

A total of $5,500 has already been received from the Christmas seal sale. A goal of $7,000 was set for the 1939 seal sale. The goal will probably be reached now that the reminder cards have been mailed, health league officials added.

Submits Reports at Annual Meeting

The statistical and service report of the Salem post of the Salvation Army for 1939 was given by Capt. Raymond L. Raines, officer in charge, at the yearly meeting of the advisory board at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Bevan last night.

The report shows 724 religious services, attended by 10,341 persons, were held; that 1,880 items were distributed in local family relief and that 1,838 items were given in transient relief.

Family relief included disposing of 1,239 garments, 241 pairs of shoes, 133 pieces of furniture, 41 orders of groceries, 23 Christmas baskets; providing relief work for 14 persons and giving gifts to 163 children.

Transients were given 664 meals, 307 lodgings, 153 garments, 46 pairs of shoes and 17 Christmas dinners. Two transients were given work relief.

Other work during the year included recreational activity with 873 participating, 884 hours of visitation, 1,121 office interviews, 231 visits to clients, and conducting hobby and craft classes for 749.

Officers of the board were re-elected for another year. They are: Chairman, David Bevan; vice chairman, Carl Williams; treasurer, Lyman Goodball; secretary, Capt. Raines.

In connection with the meeting an informal reception was held for Capt. and Mrs. Raines, who were recently married.

Goshen Juveniles

An "amateur hour" program directed by Naomi Capel, lecturer, was presented at a recent meeting of Goshen juvenile grange.

Numbers included: Vocal selections, Mary Jane Filler, Wanda Mae Minner and Albert Capel; readings, James Hollinger and Janet Capel; imitations, Eileen Minner.

Members made arrangements to begin two new projects, the making of novelty dolls and the collecting of grain to feed birds during the severe weather, in cooperation with state and local wild life conservation agencies.

"Do you think the United States will come into the war?" Five times in five days Allen Raymond, staff correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune, had that query put to him in Ottawa, up to the time he recorded it yesterday in his paper. On the last occasion a Canadian woman said to him:

"Why aren't you in this war? You're no better than my husband. You'd pretty soon find this war was yours if we were losing."

Shows British Thought

These five inquiries represent a general trend in British thought which is giving grave concern to many American observers who are convinced that this country should stay out of the war.

The British as a whole maintain a pungent belief, as immutable as their four o'clock tea habit, that America (1) ought to be in the war from the start, that (2) we are allowing the Allies to fight our own battle for us, and that (3) if it should come to a show-down, England were being defeated, we would have to go to the rescue anyway—so why not now?

If this uncomplicated idea existed merely as a passive sort of thing, to make us sorry that the good folk of lovely England should think so badly of us, it perhaps would present no real danger. But there is a decidedly active side to it which does raise a peril to neutrality.

The fact that there is a widespread and subtle effort being made by British interests to build up a sentiment in America to bring the United States into the European upheaval.

Twenty-one members attended, enjoying the informal social evening. Prizes went to Mrs. James Probert, Mrs. Alida Moore, Mrs. F. O. Heston, Mrs. L. S. Strawn, A. H. Fults, John Cobedash and Mr. and Mrs. William Kirchner.

The club will meet Feb. 26 at the hall for a coverdish dinner and program.

Expanded U.S. Boundaries
Advocated By Earl LewisEighteenth Ohio District Congressman Advocates
Statehood For Puerto Rico

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—A federal policy of admitting to the Union as states, non-contiguous territories and possessions, when they are qualified for statehood, was advocated here today by Congressman Earl Lewis, of Ohio, in a special interview on Puerto Rico.

Citing the increased importance of Puerto Rico to continental United States as a result of defense plans which make Puerto Rico a vital link in defense not only of the Panama canal, but of the entire Caribbean area, Congressman Lewis said he believes that Puerto Rico is probably qualified for statehood, and that if it is qualified the fact that it is not contiguous to the mainland should not stand in its way.

He pointed out that Puerto Rico is no further from Washington than is Denver, Colorado, for instance, and that its population is greater than that of a number of states now in the Union.

"It seems to me that the argument that Puerto Rico is not contiguous to the mainland is a feeble one, and I for one believe that we should tear down the precedent of not granting statehood to outlying possessions and territories," he said, pointing out that before California was admitted there was tremendous opposition to its becoming a state because of its distance from Washington.

"The Louisiana Purchase was opposed in some quarters," he pointed out, "but today it would be difficult to find anyone who is not glad that the great states formed from that territory are members of the Union."

The Ohio congressman said he thought that in the future there might be other areas, including Hawaii, which congress and the American public might want to include in the Union as States.

"It is a fortunate thing for the United States that Puerto Rico is under the American flag," Congressman Lewis said. "Because the American flag flies over the island we have the most strategic outpost in the Caribbean, one that will tremendously implement defense plans not only for the Panama canal but for the entire area, and I am in favor of tying the bond

Ralph T. Couch of East Liverpool was elected president of the Columbiana county council, Boy Scouts of America, at the annual banquet held in the American Legion home at Lisbon Monday night. He succeeds Judge Lodge Riddle of Lisbon, who retired after serving in that capacity for the last 10 years. Other officers are: James H. Wilson of Salem, first vice president; Leo E. Holloway of Columbiana, second vice president; R. H. Garrod of New Waterford, third vice president; Frank M. Gardner, East Liverpool, treasurer; C. E. Felton, Lisbon, scout executive; and Judge H. W. Hammond, of Columbiana, national council representative.

Eddie Howell Honored

The prized Silver Beaver medal, awarded annually to someone in the county for distinctive and outstanding service to the scout movement and youth leadership, was presented as a surprise to Eddie Howell, scout commissioner of the Salem area.

The presentation was made by Judge Riddle amid the applause of the crowd of 150.

Riddle, the retiring president of the county scout council, is the holder of a Silver Beaver medal and just last year received a 25-year pin for work with the county scout organization.

It was under his leadership that the McKinley scout reservation, near Lisbon, was purchased. Judge Riddle was instrumental in selection of the site and in raising funds for the purchase.

He first became interested in scout work when he accepted a job as troop commissioner in Lisbon, redoubling his efforts in scout work when he became juvenile judge.

Couch, his successor, has been associated with scouting in the

Commissioner Eddie Howell
Awarded High Scout HonorSalem Commissioner Re-

Service"Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works..."

Probably no man has better fulfilled that verse of scripture than Eddie Howell, Salem Boy Scout commissioner who was awarded the coveted Silver Beaver medal last night at the annual banquet in Lisbon, of the Columbiana county Boy Scout council. And no man was any more surprised last night than Eddie, himself.

The award is the highest that can be made to a scout for outstanding and distinguished service in boy leadership.

Howell, known to countless hundreds as Eddie, has overcome one of life's greatest handicaps—that of total blindness—to lead the Salem Boy Scout organization to greater heights and greater achievements in the various phases of scouting.

Eddie, to the knowledge of county scout officials, holds the distinction of being the only blind scout executive in the nation.

Began Work In 1934

He was appointed to the position in 1934, officially beginning his duties at the start of the ensuing year. Since that time, under his direction and actual participation in scouting, Eddie has built up scouting in Salem to a point never before attained. In the six years that he has been commissioner, he has more than doubled the total membership of the troops and has interested scores of small boys yet too young to join the Boy Scouts of America.

CITY AND P. R. R.
AGREE ON SEWERPennsy to Permit Tunnel
In Move to Eliminate
Flood Conditions

Pennsylvania railroad officials, meeting in the Lape hotel yesterday afternoon with representatives of the Manufacturers' association, agreed to provide the right-of-way for the city's proposed sewer system which is designed to eliminate flood conditions during heavy rains.

The city had been conferring for sometime with the railroad officials to gain permission to tunnel under the railroad tracks for the proposed new intercepting sewer, which will extend southward on South Broadway and S. Ellsworth ave. and eventually into the county ditch.

County officials have pledged assistance in the work, since the drainage, after leaving the city and entering the county ditch, becomes, legally, county water.

No announcement ever has been made as to an estimated cost of the whole improvement.

Attending yesterday's parley, besides the railroad executives, were County Engineer Charles O. Snyder, his assistant, Donald Cobbs; Mayor Norman Phillips, Service Director Charles Kennedy, Engineer F. S. Barkhoff, Solicitor Henry Reese and City Councilmen A. P. Morris and Harry Vincent.

The service director has requested city councilmen to meet in council chambers Wednesday night to discuss the sewer job further.

Church Dies At City Hospital
Funeral Service Friday

Rev. Wyatt Johnson, 64, former pastor of the A. M. E. Zion church, died at 12:45 a. m. today at Salem City hospital of complications following a month's illness.

A resident of Salem for the last 16 years, Rev. Johnson served as pastor of the A. M. E. Zion church for about four years before retiring from the ministry. He was succeeded by Rev. Ira Lavigne, the present pastor.

Rev. Johnson, who entered the ministry as a young man, had served other pastorates in Alliquippa, Pa., New Kensington, Pa., and Cleveland, coming to Salem from Alliquippa. He was a member of the district conference of the A. M. E. Zion church and president of the Civic Club of Salem.

Born in South Carolina, Rev. Johnson spent the early years of his life in South Carolina, his native state. He was born Dec. 26, 1875, in Lancaster, S. C.

Surviving him are his widow, Minnie; four daughters, Misses Alice and Emily Johnson at home, Mrs. Charles Huddleston of Salem and Mrs. Ocea Adams of Alliance; three sons, Roy, Fred and Aiden Johnson of Salem; two sisters, Mrs. Jane Farr of Detroit and Mrs. Daisy Bobo of Cleveland; one brother, Rev. Richard Johnson, of Blairsville, Pa.; one half-brother, William Jackson of Matewan, Va.; 16 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the A. M. E. Zion church on West Third st. in charge of the pastor, Rev. Lavigne. Burial will be in Hope cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the Stark Memorial Thursday evening.

City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff refused today to relinquish his office and Service Director Charles T. Kennedy conferred with Solicitor Henry L. Reese on the legal aspects of the case.

Yesterday the service director, by letter, asked for Barkhoff's resignation by midnight.

Today the engineer was still on the job and announced that "I am not resigning."

On receipt of the engineer's refusal today, Kennedy said his next steps were not ready for announcement. A complete investigation of all aspects of the situation will be made, in the meantime, he indicated.

Kennedy explained that he had requested the city engineer's resignation "for the good of all persons concerned," stating specifically in his letter to Barkhoff that it was "for the good of the water department and the service department of the city."

The engineer had no comment to make other than the fact that he would not resign.

Mayor Norman Phillips, who did not announce the action of his service director yesterday, said today he knew of the plans but did not know when Kennedy might act.

Rumors of Barkhoff's proposed ouster circulated around city hall after the new administration took office Jan. 1.

WAR SCARE

Another campaign to make flesh creep is getting under way. Germans are letting it be known they have patched up their differences, made up their minds to follow in the footsteps of Frederick the Great and shortly will pull out all the stops in the good old-fashioned way. Up to now they've just been fooling.

Russia, in the meantime, has announced that it is tired of fusing with the Finns and is about to get down to the business of exterminating them without further delay. The generals are taking deep breaths and barking orders. The admirals are on the bridge surveying the situation. The warming-up exercises are over, is the word. Another war scare is being talked up, despite the fact war already is in progress.

While it is certain that all belligerents are capable of battling more furiously than they have been battling, with the possible exception of the Finns, this newest fire breathing must be discounted from its face value. It does not, it cannot, mean that one side or the other is capable of winning the war merely by deciding to be furious.

In all probability the nature of the war will continue to be about the same as it has been—a deadlock indicating a long war of attrition that will end in mutual exhaustion. It was decided by the best minds in Europe after the World war that modern mass warfare made victory impossible. Everybody is destined to lose. There is no reason to think the content's latest war is going to upset a judgment made when minds were clearer than they are now.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS

Unsettlement in the Dominion of Canada over conduct of the war is bigger news on the other side of the Atlantic, it may be imagined, than in North America. Here is the British empire's most important unit using its political machinery to settle the vital point of war policy. London has good reason to take Ottawa seriously in this crisis.

It may be imagined, also, that beneath the exterior of Premier Mackenzie King's sudden decision to call a general election—an exterior of partisan politics—is a conflict of ideas within the population itself. The politicians, who accuse the premier of half-hearted and inefficient preparations to help Britain probably have an opposition, themselves.

There no doubt are Canadians who have been affected by their country's proximity to the United States. That is, they feel Canada's contribution to Europe's latest war should not necessarily be manpower but supplies. They share with North Americans on this side of the border a feeling that it is primarily Europe's war.

Their loyalty to the throne is above reproach, but they may question the terms of its manifestation. Many of them felt that way before war began, and it is reasonable to suppose they still do. Last summer's visit by King George and Queen Elizabeth didn't settle all their doubts by any means.

NARROWING IT DOWN

Interior Secretary Ickes needs no introduction. His reputation as a pepper pot precedes him.

So without further ado, here is Mr. Ickes talking about the chairman of the committee to investigate un-American activities, Rep. Martin Dies, Texas Democrat, Garner man, anti-New Dealer. The secretary's diatribe was set off in connection with decision of the house of representatives to give the Dies committee $75,000 to keep going this year.

"Undoubtedly there are activities in this country that we should know more about so that we can safeguard ourselves against them," fumed the secretary. "But—and I am talking now about Mr. Dies—for anyone to employ the un-American methods he has employed to safeguard Americanism is to make a travesty of the whole thing. The investigation should go on, but in view of the widespread doubt as to his methods and interest he should step aside and let someone else carry on."

This says plainly it's not his committee but Mr. Dies that is obnoxious to Mr. Ickes and those who think as he does. It's a scrap of information that seems worth filing away for future reference, as neat a bit of yes-butting as has been heard since the dawn of the New Dispensation.

WINGS

With considerable skepticism, non-combatants marked for extinction from the air have listened while experts explained exactly what was going to happen. They have scuttled in and out of air raid shelters, gasped for air in gas masks and, not entirely incidentally, have given their consent to ever larger appropriations for armies and navies. But they weren't entirely convinced.

It would be odd if they didn't notice the aerial aspect of the war in Finland under these circumstances. Russia's superiority is beyond doubt—in the air. Its planes have bombed Finnish objectives relentlessly and successfully. More damage by far has been done behind the front than on it, to the extent that Russia may win the war with bombers while losing it with soldiers. If the Finns were equipped to fight in the air as they have been fighting on the ground, Russia would be doomed. Not only its army but its civilian population would be demoralized.

The airplane's place in war still is not finally determined. But Finland—and before Finland, Poland—have seemed to demonstrate that it cannot be overrated.

SILVER LINING BUREAU

Europe's war can't be all to the bad. Pollyanna's entitled to an occasional ray of hope, on dull days. Breslau, Germany, tailors have announced that as long as war lasts only one hip pocket will be permitted in tailor-made trousers.

It's not clear how this will affect the war one way or another, but it represents progress. Men's suits have too many pockets anyway, and from what's known about the amount of cash handled by Germans these days hip pockets aren't used for anything except storage of handkerchiefs. If the war lasts long enough the Breslau tailors may do away with sleeve buttons on men's coats, but that would be drastic.

Fire broke out this morning at 1 o'clock in Lemuel Johnson's photography gallery. The cause of the fire is unknown. The building, belonging to William Steele, was damaged to the amount of $500 and the damage to Mr. Johnson's equipment is $400. The loss is covered by insurance.

A. H. White returned this morning from Cleveland, where he visited with his sisters, Dr. Mary White and Mrs. W. U. Miller.

Twenty friends of John W. Camp surprised him last evening at his home on Vine st. in honor of his 18th birthday anniversary. Games and music featured the evening. An oyster supper was served to the guests.

A special sent out from Columbus tells of the incorporation under the laws of the State of Ohio of the Salem Cemetery association. This move has been contemplated for some time, but last week the first meeting was held here and the matter took definite form. The incorporators are: J. T. Brooks, W. F. Deming, Ashbel Carey, W. H. Mullins, M. L. Young, J. S. Woodruff and R. V. Hampson. Several tracts have been talked of for the new cemetery but no section has been made.

Mr. and Mrs. George Richey of Wilson st. are the parents of a son.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wire of Warren are the parents of a son. Mr. Wire was formerly of the firm of French & Wire in Salem.

The switchboard for the Columbiana County Telephone company's exchange is being installed in East Palestine. Superintendent C. M. Johnston went there today.

Ralph McGhee returned to this city Thursday evening after spending a few days in Massillon and Canton on business.

THE STARS SAY:
For Wednesday, January 31.

While the facilities and energies may be under excellent astral stimuli on this day, there are certain equivocal or dubious factors to cope with. The inherent forces and predispositions, mental, physical and emotional, seem to be in conflict, causing perplexity or anxiety that will be detrimental and taxing, as well as disturbing to relations with employers or superiors. Be alert to intrigue and be careful with writings.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which there may be much accomplishment if a tendency to overstrain the mental and nervous forces is averted, and they are able to shun worry, doubts and perplexities, as well as duplicity, equivocal entanglements and indulgence in expediency rather than principle. These might incite trouble with employers or superiors. With care there may be surprising gain and personal gratification.

A child born on this day may have characteristics and trends difficult to engineer into constructive and worthy channels. It may be versatile, skilful and have much ingenuity, but overwrought nervous and emotional energy may incite unpleasant activities. Early careful training and discipline are recommended.

Infants And Temperatures
Differ, Says Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What is the danger of fever in a new-born baby?

It has always been considered to be perfectly normal for a baby to have an increase of temperature the first, second or third day after birth. This has been ascribed to the dehydration of the first few hours of life after the mother's blood support is suddenly cut off, or to toxic substances in the mother's milk. All this was taken more or less as a matter of course, but the observations of Taddet, at the Children's Hospital at Pisa, Italy, have placed the thing on a more exact basis.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The temperature of the infant is always different from that of the mother. Strangely enough, the temperature of twins is always different. During the first few hours of life the temperature diminishes, but in the course of the first day it rises and may continue high until the seventh or eighth day of life. No relationship was found between this rise and early breast feeding or, in fact, any other feeding factor.

The only sensible conclusion is that different babies have different liabilities of regulation of bodily temperature.

Winter and Mastoid Disease

Does infection of the ear and resulting mastoid disease have any relation to weather?

Yes. The incidence of mastoid disease follows the general curve of the incidence of the common cold. In a Chicago hospital for children a chart was made of the frequency of mastoid operations in relation to temperature and weather change. It was found that change is more important than temperature itself. Middle ear infection and mastoid infection in children are precipitated in the wake of fall in atmospheric temperature—cold front or polar front, when the functional status of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat is changed.

Treatment of Hernia

What are the results of injection treatment for hernia? This column has always taken the conservative stand that the injection treatment for hernia was valuable only in selected cases, and that these cases should be selected by a surgeon who is familiar with both the injection and the regular operative treatment. It takes time to evaluate a new method of treatment, but we finally have a report from a Boston hospital concerning patients who were carefully treated by the injection treatment for hernia. The report covers a period of four years.

The conclusions are these: that out of 20 patients, only two were cured, that the injection treatment for hernia is not satisfactory, and should be used only when the patient must not be operated on, and then only after the method of treatment and its potentialities for cure have been fully explained to the patient.

This sounds like very good common sense to me.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. A.: "Will you please tell me how to use viosterol and whether we can procure it without a doctor's prescription?"

Answer: Viosterol is given by mouth, eight drops daily. It can be procured without a doctor's prescription.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

High Finance

FENNIMORE, Wis.—M. J. Weaver, president of the Fennimore city council, received a first class letter from the state treasury department bearing a three cent stamp.

Inside was a check for two cents—Fennimore's share of state income taxes collected during the last quarter of 1939.

SARATOGA, Cal.—Justice of the Peace W. A. Rice has found something better than bee stings as a cure for arthritis. Since being struck by lightning two weeks ago he reports not a single joint has given him a twinge.

"RED EARTH" by TOM GILL

SYNOPSIS

Jack Douglas returns to his Mirabeau Mesa ranch, after an absence of six years, to find it on the verge of ruin by a band of killers called "The Raiders," who are driving the ranchers off their property. His Aunt Ines and fiancée, Lola, rejoice at his homecoming, feeling that they now have a master to look after them. Dona Ines said if he were not for Ed Paxton, the ranch foreman, she would not have known where to turn. All about is a feeling of restlessness and distrust. His first day home, Jack goes riding with his vaquero and friend, Frank Baker. The latter says the miners in Cobre jump the water rights of the ranchers and that the cattlemen are doing nothing about it. "What we need is a he-man boss. We need you!" he tells Jack. Frank points to an adobe dwelling in the canyon, saying: "There may be something about adding to our troubles. It's the meeting place of the Brotherhood. Nearly every peon in the country belongs. He swears allegiance to the Brotherhood instead of to the man who employs him." A battered peon shuffles down the path. "One of our own herders," Baker remarks and pointing to a small tent nearby adds, "He stays there." Leaving Baker, Douglas goes to visit his old friend, Forest Ranger Sam Record.

CHAPTER VII

Throwing an arm around Douglas' shoulder, he slammed the door closed. "Sit down and let me look at you." His blue eyes passed speculatively over the man. "You're changed, Jack," he said at last. "Six years do bring changes. Sam even got his own tongue sounds strange to me."

The ranger laughed. "That rich Castilian accent must give your Aunt Ines a kick—she's always resented your deplorable Gingo ways." For a moment he turned toward the window, and when again he faced Douglas, he was frowning.

"I'm mighty glad to see you, Jack, but I oughtn't to be," his deep voice rumbled. "I might have known the one way to make you come back here was to tell you not to. There's nothing here for you—only danger."

The tall man smiled. "What should I do—crawl under the bed?" But there was no answering smile on the ranger's face. "I tried to warn you."

"You did. In your last letter you told me three times to keep away from here."

"So you took the first boat back. You might have used better judgment, Jack."

"What did you expect me to do? It was time I came. Other ranch owners are living here. Why is the danger greater for me?"

"I'll tell you why. It's because you are one of three ranchers the raiders have named for death."

"And the other two?"

"Bradshaw left the country—Woolson's dead. Now do you see why I begged you not to come back? Your ranch is the biggest in the valley. You're the most powerful land-owner here. The others have moved to the men of your time for leadership, and if they're going to get together now it would be with you as their leader. You're just about the last obstacle the raiders haven't accounted for. That's why you're not wanted back here—that and your reputation."

The tall man seemed unimpressed. "So I am to be the sacrificial goat?" He rolled a cigarette.

"How do you know all this, Sam?"

"One of my Mexican fire guards is a member of this secret organization called the Brotherhood. Last summer I saved his life in the big fire, and he knows I keep my mouth shut. He swore to me you wouldn't last a week once you got back to the valley."

"What has the Brotherhood to do with the raiders?"

"Nothing that I know of, but there's not much going on that the Brotherhood doesn't know about. They've existed here as an organization for ten years. The raiders are a new outfit."

"And you believe all these threats?"

In angry exasperation the ranger's big hand slammed the table.

"I don't have to believe—I know."

"I'm staying here, Sam. I must stay!"

What happened to Warner and Wilson? How did old Colonel Neale die? Jack, not a single man that bucked the raiders is here today. You got to leave here pronto."

Seeing those earnest, anxious eyes, Douglas laid a hand on his old friend's shoulder. "I can't go, Sam, not even if I wanted to—the ranch is on the verge of ruin."

"Ruin!"

"I went over the books this morning. I've got to stay and build up—if I can."

But they won't let you, Jack. I know you better than any man in the valley, and I know you don't care a hoot about personal danger, but I tell you, you won't have a chance. I'm not going to let you out of this cabin unless you promise to leave the country until times change. Not a canyon will be safe for you to go into. You'll stop a bullet from behind a clump of mesquite or they'll ride you down in the desert. They'll drag you out of your own hacienda like they did old Wilson and stand you up against the wall. Jack, you've got to see this thing. There's nobody in the world here can save you. In desperation the ranger's arm tightened on Douglas' arm. "If I could only make you understand!"

"I'm staying here, Sam. I must stay."

At those words, so quietly spoken, the ranger's hand released—there was nothing more to say. In silence Douglas walked the length of the room.

"Don't think I make light of danger, Sam," he said at last, "but I can't run away now—not with things as they are. Besides there must be a way." For a long time he stood frowning out of the window, his fingers tapping the sill, then suddenly he laughed. "I wonder," he looked quickly up, his face alive with the thought that held him, and once again, "I wonder."

"Wonder what?"

"Sam, I am going to prove to you that I can stay in this country, go where I want, learn a few things about these dear raiders, and no one will lift a finger against me."

"And I say you're crazier'n a hoot owl."

With mock sadness Douglas shook his head. "How little my old friend believes in me."

Worried skepticism showed in every line of the ranger's face, but knowing the uselessness of further remonstrance, he only said, "Then take my advice and remember one thing—trust no one. Nobody around here knows who is friend or enemy. Don't tell anyone what you're going to do, for your life won't be worth a tin nickel once the raiders decide you're dangerous to them. You've got to fight secrecy with secrecy. You've got to meet guile with guile, and if ever there was a man worse off with those two qualities than you are, I'd sure hate to meet him. You ranchers might just as well realize that you've got two powerful enemies against you—the copper gang and the raiders. One can fight you with money and crooked legislature, while the other fights you with gunpowder and lead. The miners don't want you here any more than the raiders want you. The only difference is the raiders do their work through the Yellow Killer."

"Yellow Killer?"

"You haven't heard of him yet? Well, you will. He's a Chinese giant that leads these raiders."

"And you mean to tell me that the border ranchers are being terrified by one Chinaman? It's laughable."

"Is it? Well, that same Chinaman has murdered at least twelve men in the last year—and they were men who knew the border and its ways. I tell you, Jack, you don't realize the game you're up against. This fellow is a killer—a cold, pitiless killer. When orders go out to get some rancher that yellow leader rides through the night, and there's murder before dawn."

Record's tanned face was never more serious. "Jack, I saw him once with my own eyes, and it's something I'm still trying to forget. He was sitting on his horse—a giant of a man, over six foot tall and wearing a yellow poncho—shoulders like a gorilla. The moon gleamed on his face—I remember the squat nose and high, flat cheekbones. A Chinaman, all right. His eyes were slanting and his mouth was like a gash—cruel as any wolf's. There was something—something ghastly, horrible about that face. It was like death itself."

Impatiently Douglas crushed his cigarette. "I believe a dozen good men under the right leader could send your killer and these night raiders scurrying to their holes like rats. Sam, these raiders have you all nervous as women."

"Angrily the ranger turned. "So I'm a nervous woman, am I? Well, your trouble is you don't know what you're up against. You're not fitted for this game—you're too outright, too honest, and too quick on the trigger."

"Perhaps I can curb those vices."

"If you finger on living here, you've got to."

Douglas rose and reached for his samplers. "I'll be careful, Sam," he said and left.

Assembly Speeds Long's Bills

Governor Long, George Wallace and Senator Ellender

Special legislative session, called by Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana, continues to draw denunciations from the camp of Sam H. Jones, Lake Charles attorney whom Long must defeat in a runoff Democratic primary Feb. 20. Governor Long, shown going over legislation with his aide, George M. Wallace, center, and Senator Allen Ellender, right, recommended 20 bills, some of which repeal "dictator laws" enacted during his brother Huey's regime.

Theater Attractions

The talented Geraldine Fitzgerald, whose two performances in films (Dark Victory and Wuthering Heights) brought her stardom, has the leading role in "A Child Is Born", the Wednesday only feature at the Grand.

The stories of six women brought together by the same experience is woven into an absorbing, dramatic and at times, amusing narrative.

Miss Fitzgerald as the central character, a young woman who has been let out of prison long enough to have her baby, equals the brilliant work of her two former performances. Jeffrey Lynn as her harried young husband does the best work of his career.

Others in the picture are Gladys George, vaudeville dancer, who doesn't want to have a baby; Gloria Holden, who needs a child to make her house a home and to hold her husband; Spring Byington as the perennial patient in the maternity ward, mother of seven others; Nanette Fabares, hardly more than a child, whose marriage has estranged her from the mother she now longs for; and Jean Sharon, the truck driver's wife who expects to lose her baby because of malnutrition.

Others in the large cast are Gale Page, Johnnie Davis, Henry O'Neill, John Littel, Johnny Downs, Eve Arden, Fay Helm, Hobart Cavanaugh and Nella Walker.

Concluding at the State tonight is "The Hunchback of Notre Dame", starring Charles Laughton.

The Grand's features Wednesday only are: A Jones Family comedy, "Young as You Feel"; and "Emergency Squad", William Henry, Louise Campbell, Richard Denning, Robert Paige and John Marston.

Ford-built Cars Set Sensational Records in Gilmore Yosemite Economy Run!

Punishing 306.5 miles through city traffic, over winding mountain roads in rain, sleet and snow proved that of all standard-equipped competing cars, the Ford V-8, and the Mercury 8 are the most economical to operate in their respective price classes.

FORD V-8, 24.92 MILES PER GALLON

Starting in a drizzling rain from Gilmore Stadium, Los Angeles, this 85 h.p. Ford V-8 stock sedan used less gas in climbing two mountain ranges in stormy weather than any other standard-equipped car in its price class.

The Ford V-8, without special equipment, averaged 24.92 miles per gallon—2.05 miles per gallon better than one car in its price class and 2.38 miles per gallon better than another.

MERCURY 8, 23.76 MILES PER GALLON LINCOLN-ZEPHYR V-12 19.9 MILES PER GALLON

Up the winding road through the high Sierras the Mercury races to a record of unheard-of economy and the undisputed leadership of its price class. Mercury's meteoric rise in one short year is the result of sheer ability to out-perform other cars.

The 1940 Gilmore Yosemite run under strict A.A.A. supervision has provided impartial proof of performance. It is evidence upon which to base your selection of a car in any one of three price classes. For beauty and comfort plus economy, see your Ford, Mercury or Lincoln-Zephyr dealer.

Garden Club Begins Study Of Famous Southern Gardens

Mrs. G. T. Harding was chairman of the program presented for Garden club members at their first meeting this year at the library Monday afternoon.

Mrs. H. E. Stiver, president in charge of the session, was hostess to the club, beginning its ninth season.

Opening the year's study of "Famous Southern Gardens," Miss Martha Ware gave an interesting paper on the "Bellinckh Gardens," the magnificent grounds at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Bellinckh, 20 miles south of Mobile, Ala.

The many acres of grounds contain live oaks more than 500 years old, about 75 varieties of azaleas which grow to a height of 20 feet, more than 100 varieties of camellias and many other shrubs, trees and flowers arranged and landscaped artistically. The gardens have been named among the 12 most beautiful in the United States, yet have been the work of less than 10 years.

The other feature of the program was a paper by Mrs. Charles McCorkhill on the novel collection of glass flowers at Harvard university. The collection was established and is maintained by funds from Mrs. Elliott Ware and her daughter, Mary Elizabeth, in memory of their husband and father, a Harvard university graduate.

The "flower made" of glass and colored naturally to resemble the real flowers, represent 720 American and other species. The expert workmanship and exquisite coloring are said to be so perfect that they cannot be distinguished from real blooms except by touch. Even under the microscope, cross sections and other details are accurate reproductions.

Tea was served after the program by Mrs. W. P. Davis and her committee, including Mrs. R. L. Schiller, Mrs. J. B. Atchison, Mrs. N. L. Reich and Mrs. Fred Lewis. Miss Edith Campbell and Mrs. R. D. Simpson presided at the tea table which was attractive with lace cloth and centerpiece of yellow daffodils, iris and acacia.

Nurses Will Hear Travelogue

Misses Ruth Derringer and Lula Biernan, teachers in Fairfield Centralized school, will give a travelogue and show movies taken on a trip to Europe for the Graduate Nurses' association meeting at the home of Miss Virginia Rupert in Columbiana Thursday evening.

The teachers will give an account of their travels in France, Italy, Germany and England.

Learnians Club Plans Bridge

The Learnians club will give a benefit bridge at 8 p. m. Thursday in the library assembly room. The funds from the benefit will be used in the club's civic welfare activities.

of the war—extending over 700 miles from the Shetland Islands south to the Kentish coast.

None of the attacks was reported to have penetrated inland and of 13 British merchant ships and one Latvian vessel bombed and machine-gunned not one was reported sunk, although there were several casualties among crewmen. The Germans also were said to have struck at two lightships.

(Berlin announced that seven "enemy-convoyed armed merchant ships and two patrol boats" were destroyed in yesterday's operations. The official German news agency announcement called the foray only a reconnaissance and declared that all the German planes returned safely as against the loss in combat of one British pursuit plane.)

Dance Students To Appear In Lisbon

purchase of approximately $1,000 worth of surgical instruments for the surgical and obstetrical departments, and a portable fracture frame for the orthopedic department.

Changes in personnel during the year included the appointment of Miss Emily Loney of Cleveland, a graduate of Mt. Sinai hospital and Western Reserve university, as instructor in the training school to succeed Miss Mary Louise Tracy, who resigned in December because of ill health.

Mrs. Clara Pigg of Houston, Tex., assumed the position of surgical supervisor, while Miss Selma Leibschner of Salem became biologist and technician in the clinical laboratory. Miss Leila Fallow, graduate of the local training school, took over the duties of supervisor of the two medical and surgical floors.

Ladies' Auxiliary Miss Wilson reported that the Ladies' auxiliary of the hospital performed splendid work during the year, sponsoring among other things the observance of National Hospital day, May 12, and a children's party in the nurses' home.

A gift of 50 Golden Bibles, which have been placed in patients' rooms throughout the hospital, was announced.

Meetings attended during the year by the superintendent and other members of her staff included the conventions of the Ohio Hospital association, the American Hospital association, the Ohio State Nurses' association.

The record librarian attended the meeting of the North American Association of Record Librarians. The obstetrical supervisor was present at the first American Congress on obstetrics and gynecology, and the X-ray technician attended the meeting of the Ohio Society of X-ray Technicians.

Fresh vegetables were supplied patients and the personnel from the hospital garden during the summer, Miss Wilson said. A total of 1,551 quarts of vegetables, fruit and jellies were put up in the hospital kitchen.

Closing her report, Miss Wilson thanked the board of trustees, the ladies' auxiliary, the medical staff, the graduate staff, the student nurses and hospital employees for their loyal support during the year.

The profit and loss statement for the year showed free service cost the hospital $14,431.83, causing the institution to operate at a loss of $10,110.55.

Total income for the year, including a $10,000 bequest, was $126,811.32. Total expenses for 1939, including $14,431.83 for free service, were $136,921.87.

A detailed treasurer's report was given by L. H. Colley, while the report of the Ladies' auxiliary, as submitted by Mrs. F. J. Crowe, president, was read by Miss Wilson. The superintendent also read the report of the school of nursing.

Atty. South Metzger was elected secretary of the association to succeed James Probert. Other officers were re-elected. They are: President, D. B. McCune; vice president, Mrs. Joel Sharp; treasurer, L. H. Colley.

Metzger, Probert and Mrs. Sharp were re-elected trustees for three-year terms as were Mrs. William Silver and C. A. Cavanaugh.

ASKS CONGRESS FOR HOSPITALS

Roosevelt Sends "Birthday Message" To House

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—President Roosevelt asked congress today to approve a $7,500,000 to $10,000,000 experimental program for federal construction of approximately 50 hospitals in areas needing such facilities but unable to pay for them.

"Birthday Message" Setting forth the request in a "birthday message"—this being his 58th birthday—Mr. Roosevelt said of his recommendation: "I am confident that even this limited undertaking will bring substantial returns in the saving of lives, rehabilitation of workers, and increased health and vigor of the people."

The plan, he declared, does not constitute a renewal of any past federal public works program using the "grants-in-aid" method of financing.

"The areas which I have in mind," he explained, "are areas so poor that they cannot raise their share of the cost of building and equipping a hospital."

The $7,500,000 to $10,000,000 appropriation, which the President asked would be made to the public health service which, with the advice of an advisory council of medical and scientific authorities, would select locations for the hospitals and plan "good standards" of operation.

Operated Locally The federal works agency would plan and execute the construction. Title to the institutions would be held by the federal government, but operation would be a local financial responsibility.

The program would be put into effect during the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1940. The hospitals would be of simple construction, equipped with at least 100 beds, and cost between $150,000 and $250,000 each.

The chief executive sent his message only to the house, the senate being in recess.

Snow Ruins F. D. R. Cake

President Roosevelt and William Green

Heaviest snowfall of the season deprived President Roosevelt of a 300-pound birthday cake, the gift of an American Federation of Labor bakery union. The cake broke into pieces when the truck delivering it to the White House bumped over ruts at a street car track. However, William Green, A. F. of L. president, who was to have made the presentation, did hand the chief executive a check for $5,800, representing contributions from A. F. of L. unions to be used in the fight against infantile paralysis.

COUNTY SETS UP FUNDS FOR 1940

Increase of $206,577 Over 1939 Goes Largely to Relief Funds

LISBON, Jan. 30.—Columbiana county commissioners Monday completed appropriations for the operation of the various offices and departments within the county for 1940, showing an increase of $206,577.14 over the appropriations of 1939. The increase is largely attributable to appropriations for relief, blind relief and aid for dependent children this year, appropriations for which were not made last year.

In addition to those new appropriations, increased funds were allowed for the operation of the county home, soldiers' relief commission, board of elections, the common pleas court, the dog and kennel fund, the bond retirement fund and miscellaneous county expenses and unanticipated emergencies and contingencies. The majority of the other offices were cut in their appropriations, with but few receiving the same as in 1939.

Prowler Has Close Call At Residence

DETROIT, Jan. 30.—When word of this gets around, Frank Redick probably won't be bothered with prowlers.

He was awakened by the sound of someone trying to enter his bedroom window. He grabbed an ax, crept to the window and gave a tremendous chop.

The prowler fled. Redick turned on the light and found the intruder's hat neatly pinned to the window ledge by the ax.

Driver Acquitted

LISBON, Jan. 30.—William Snowden, colored, of Youngstown, was acquitted by a jury in common pleas court Monday afternoon of a charge of reckless driving, the body deliberating only eight minutes to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

Snowden, truck driver for the Youngstown Ice company, was indicted by the grand jury following a collision near Bayard on January 2, involving his truck and a car driven by Dan Ruffo of Canton.

He is superintendent of the East Liverpool district for the Ohio Power Co.

Regional Executive Speaks Principal speaker at the scout banquet last night was Clarence E. Sarner of Cincinnati, regional scout executive, who interestingly described the beginning, or introduction, of scouting in America, and of the effect of the national jamboree held in Washington in 1937.

Following the mammoth jamboree in Washington, 800 scouts attended an international jamboree in Europe, which, Shriner declared, was a step toward the development of a world brotherhood which would be a strong step in the elimination of future wars.

"In youth," he stated, "lies the future of the world, urging that we do all we can to increase the youth program of scouting. Scouting is the American way of serving our boys, and the scout law is truly American in every way."

Shriner contrasted the methods of youth programs in America with those of foreign countries, now the scenes of unrest and war, and stated, "If we redouble our efforts toward the scout program, we need not fear what will become of America in future years."

The presentation of Eagle Scout awards was made by Atty. Joel Sharp of Salem, to six youths, four of whom were from the New Waterford troop, an achievement for which Scoutmaster Robert F. Myers received the plaudits of the crowd. Only three of the six were present to receive the awards which were pinned on their coat lapels by their mothers. They were Albert Yarian and David Williams of New Waterford and Robert Scott of East Liverpool. The other three to receive the highest award in scouting were Harvey Rickett of Salem and Frank Papania and Donald Garrod of New Waterford.

The annual report was given by Scout Executive Charles E. Felton, who is starting his 11th year, and comments on the annual regional meeting were given by Judge Hammond.

Felton's report disclosed seven new troops organized in the county during 1939, with a total of 767 scouts enrolled in all troops, not counting Cub scouts. There was a gain of 96 boys over records of the previous year.

Illegal Fees Hit In Warren Report

WARREN, Jan. 30.—Findings of $14,911 against 41 attorneys and two collection agencies for alleged illegal fees collected when acting as trustees for debtors are cited in a state examiner's report of Warren municipal court, made public yesterday.

The report declares the clerk of the municipal court is the only proper trustee for debtors. Fees ranged, the examiner said, from a percentage of as much as 15 per cent to a flat charge of $3 a month.

Authorized sources bitterly attacked French Premier Daladier's speech last night, terming it "more hysterical even than (Winston) Churchill's." These sources viewed Daladier's remarks as an effort to frighten neutrals to join the allies.

Recall German Treatment They said his criticism of German treatment of conquered Poles came with ill grace from a nation which "showed decidedly sadistic tendencies in treatment of Germans during and after the World war."

The official German news agency DNB said seven "enemy-convoyed armed merchant ships" and two patrol vessels, totaling 21,378 tons, were sunk yesterday, and that a British plane was shot down near Hartlepool.

All German planes returned safely, the agency said. (The British acknowledged no sinkings, but said 13 of their ships and one Latvian freighter had been attacked.)

between the mainland and Puerto Rico just as it is possible.

"If Puerto Rico wants to become a state, I think congress should give the matter immediate consideration, and that the island should be admitted if found qualified. And I understand it will be found qualified."

Congressman Lewis pointed out that in addition to its military importance, the island is the third best customer for products of continental United States in the western hemisphere, and the eighth best in the entire world.

The Puerto Rican legislature last year petitioned congress for Statehood, and bills to bring this about are now pending in both house and senate. The senate bill was introduced by Senator Burke of Nebraska, and the house bill by the resident commissioner from Puerto Rico.

Film Players Robbed of Jewels

Constance Bennett, Richard Ainley and Anita Louise

Here are Constance Bennett, left, and Anita Louise, film players, who were held up and robbed of $33,095 in jewelry in Chicago as they were returning from a benefit performance of a play which was closing its run in that city. With the two at the time of the hold-up by five masked bandits was Richard Ainley, young English actor,

Beaux Arts Star

Flora Bowes

Quite an enticing Parisienne is Flora Bowes in her Beaux Arts Ball costume. She is wearing a diamond studded black velvet girdle and a fifty-five carat diamond ring. What a sight for New York's eyes—Flora and the diamonds.

Escapes Death by Seconds

Two-year-old Maureen Walsh (left) is comforted by her sister, Sheila, after narrowly escaping death in a 25-foot cistern near the Walsh home in Waukegan, Ill. She fell in while playing. Her father heard her screams and pulled Maureen out in the nick of time. Her only injury was a scratched nose.

SANITARY POSTS NINTH STRAIGHT VICTORY

SPANK CARROLL CLUB QUINT IN CLASS A GAME

Roberts Nose Out First Round Champion By 25-24 Score

The National Sanitary, second round champion of the city's Class A Basketball league, stretched its winning streak to nine straight games at the Memorial building last night, posting a 47-to-43 victory over the Carroll Club, its closest rival in the senior circuit's third round game.

The victory was the Sanitary's fourth of the third round, placing it within one game of the round championship. It was the Carroll Club's first defeat of the round and its sixth set-back of the current season.

The Score in Third
The Carroll Club trailed throughout most of the contest, but rallied once in the third quarter to tie the score at 27-all. The Sanitary spurred to take a 35-to-29 lead at the end of the third period and continue safely out in front in the fourth quarter.

Leading the Sanitary to its victory was big Bob Jeffries, who racked up 26 points to come within one point of tying his league scoring record, set against the Carroll Club in the second round.

Jeffries collected 12 of the Sanitary's 21 field goals and scored two free throws. Clay Raynes, his rival center and pivot man, led the Carroll Club scoring with 16 points.

The Ohio State Employment Service, first round champion of the Class A loop, fell before Roberts' men's shop, 25 to 24, in the other senior circuit contest.

Trail At Halftime
Trailing by six points at halftime, Roberts cut the O. S. E. S. lead down to two points in the third quarter and moved out in front late in the fourth period.

Bill Schaeffer counted nine points to pace Roberts to the victory.

The "T" Club gained its first victory of the season in one of two Class B league games, upsetting the Carroll Clowns, 29 to 26, with Patterson, Weigand, Greene and Goodman sharing honors.

Demings registered its fifth victory of the first round in the other Class B tilt, edging Rudibaugh's Sohloans, 28 to 25.

Demings took a three-point lead in the third quarter after a close first-half battle. Courtney and Whitcomb collected six points each to pace the Pumpmakers' scoring.

32 Boxers To Be In Glove Finals

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30.—Thirty-two crack boxers, headed by champion Max Schinder, of Lorain, today headed into the finals of the annual Golden Gloves tournament.

Schinder, the only defending titlist left in the tourney, defeated Joe Shilko of Cleveland, in the top bout of last night's quarter and semi-finals.

Buddy Smallwood and Vincent Raines, of Akron; George George, of Lorain, and Beauford Glover, of Mansfield, are other non-Clevelanders scheduled to compete in the concluding bouts Friday night.

Winners of the eight open-division titles will qualify for the Chicago Tournament of Champions and the national A. A. U. meet at Boston.

SUTHERLAND TO COACH DODGERS' PRO GRID TEAM

Ex-Pitt Mentor Risks A Splendid Record In Money Game

By WICK TEMPLE
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30.—Jock Sutherland is turning pro at the risk of one of the best football coaching records in the business.

The 50-year old Scot who directed Pitt grid football for 15 years has accepted a three-year contract to pilot the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National Professional League.

"I never coached a loser and I hope to continue that record," declared the bachelor dental instructor long famous as a maker of All-Americans.

"If I did not believe I could make a go of pro football I certainly would not have assumed my new position. No one likes to win any more than I do, and I will try my utmost to give Brooklyn fans a winner."

College Record Good
And that comes from an affable fellow who thinks "football has been good to me" what with an enviable collegiate record of 144 victories, 14 ties and only 28 defeats in 20 years. He coached five years at Lafayette before going to Pitt.

Sports writers sighed in relief with announcement yesterday of Sutherland's hiring by Dodger Owner Dan Topping. Ever since Jock quit at Pitt in last spring's athletic upheaval they've been running down, rumors connecting him with every coaching vacancy.

The pro world had only praise for the long-reported deal.

"It is one of the finest steps the league has made," commented President Carl L. Storck of the National circuit. "It brings a fine man and the No. 1 football coach in the country to the league."

MCCOY ACCEPTS MACK'S OFFERS

Receives $45,000 for Signing and Salary of $10,000 a Year

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 30.—Connie Mack's dream of one last great championship team may be realized in 1941, Eddie Mack, son of the president, said today.

Mack, 77, said he had accepted the offer of the Philadelphia Athletics, predicted today as he left for home a winner in the most heated bidding contest for a player major league baseball has ever known.

In the younger Mack's pocket was a contract signed by Benny McCoy, the free agent second baseman, obtained at a cost of a $45,000 bonus and an agreement for a $10,000 annual salary for 1941 and 1942.

McCoy signed for the record-breaking amount late yesterday, exactly 15 days after Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis declared him a free agent along with 90 other Detroit Tiger chattels.

At first base Philadelphia will have Dick Seibert, who showed much promise last season, McCoy, who batted .302 in 55 games for Detroit in 1939, will hold down second, while Bill Lillard, classy recruit from San Francisco, will be at shortstop, Mack said. Al Rubelling, for whom the Athletics paid Atlanta a healthy $35,000, is due to play third.

NEW PHILLY AND MIDDLETOWN TOP OHIO CAGE RACE

Stark County Team Leading Among Class B Quintets

BY FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—Middletown and New Philadelphia in Class A, and Beach City of Stark County in Class B—those are the leaders of Ohio's high school basketball teams as the scholastic careers prepare for the February campaign.

The Middles and New Phillys have piled up a dozen straight wins to top the 235 Class A quintets, while Beach City has 15 in a row to pace the 917 Class B entrants.

Lynchburg of Highland county, last week's Class B top-notch, was knocked off the peak after 16 consecutive victories. Fairfield Township taking a 30-19 verdict. The most stunning setback of the week, however, was a 24-21 conquest of Little Wapakoneta over Bellefontaine's mighty men who had won 10 in a row. It was the first loss by Bellefontaine in two seasons of regular play, the only defeat last year coming in the state tournament.

Loss First Game
Others beaten for the first time included West Carrollton (30, Franklin 33); Worthington (14, Upper Arlington 23); Belleville (23, Lucas 28) and Zanesville St. Thomas (31, Newark St. Francis 32). Carrollton had won 12, Worthington 10, Belleville 9 and St. Thomas 8.

Still unbeaten in Class A, in addition to the two leaders, are Mount Vernon and Cincinnati Woodward with 11; Canton McKinley with 10, and Grandview and Cleveland Collingwood with nine each.

The Class B "clean record" squads include: Hoytsville, Parkman, Smithfield and North Parkers with 14; North Canton (state champion) and Columbiana with 13; Ohio School for Deaf and Fairfield Township of Columbiana county with 11; and Wyoming and Canton St. John with nine.

On the bottom of the Class A heap is Lorain, which has dropped 10 without a victory. Wren of Van Wert county is Class B tailender with 13 setbacks in a row.

Break Losing Streak
Youngstown Cheney, after losing nine defeated Youngstown Ursuline 34 to 27, while Greenville topped its second win in 22 starts by beating Sidney 35-25. Lorain's ninth defeat was a close one, 19-17 at the hands of Elyria, while Wellsburg lost its ninth straight, 27-26, to Wellsville.

Akron Central came up with the week's most startling reversal. Going into the final quarter against Warren, Central was on the short end of a 25 to 16 count, but the Akronites held the foe scoreless for the last session while piling up 13 points to win by 29 to 25.

Schlotzville on the edge of Portsmouth, had been rolling along with eight wins and only one beating. Fans clamored for a game with Portsmouth High, which had compiled a 6-6 record for the year. Forced into the game by pressure of the fans, Portsmouth slipped down the aspiring neighbors 44-18, as 1,800 customers crammed into a gym with a seating capacity of 1,200.

In the Fremont sector scarlet fever caused postponement of the McComb-Rawson game, diphtheria halted the Dola-Dunkirk contest, and Fremont Ross scored 11 points in the last period while blanking Findlay to win by 21-19.

Scott Will Play
CLEVELAND, Jan. 30.—A nervous condition kept Joe Scott, Western Reserve University track star and basketball center, from taking semester examinations, but it won't keep him out of sports — for a while, at least. Physicians who advised him to forego examinations have urged him to continue with athletics, so he'll probably be in the lineup for the Reserve-Ohio University basketball game Saturday at Athens.

Knox Wins Bout
CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Buddy Knox, Dayton's blond bomber, won an eight-round decision over Henry Wacker, Chicago Negro, in the semi-final of the Al Hostak-Tony Zale fight here last night.

It was a dull contest and neither had an early advantage. In the seventh, the referee cautioned them a fight. During most of the bout they elected to remain close and trade light body punches.

BOWLING RESULTS

The fifth-place Ohio Edison stole the spotlight from higher ranking teams in the American league at the Masonic temple alleys last night, firing a 2782 score for a new three-game team record.

The Edisonites' 2782, made on games of 956,886 and 940, bettered the former high of 2708 set by the Electric Furnace.

Bill Talbott paced the O. E. team to its record score, hammering out a 628 series on games of 201, 241 and 186.

Despite their fine score, the Edison keglers were held to two wins by the fourth-place Fitzpatrick Super Service.

The second-place Fernengel Coits gained a game on the leading Electric Furnace by winning two of three games with Demings while the Furnace was losing two heats to Lease Drugs.

The Democrats posted two victories over the Masons in another American league match.

In the Quaker City league at the Grate Recreation lanes, the leading Colonial Finance and second-place Althouse Motors clashed in a postponed match after each of the two teams had won three games by forfeit in their scheduled matches.

The Motors took two of the three games in the postponed match, cutting the Finance five's lead from seven to six games.

Other Quaker City league activity saw Flocking & Reynard win three games from the Hotel Lape. The Masons take two games from Coy Buicks and the Columbiana Type Club post three wins over the Recreation Billiards.

BRITISH WANT U.S. IN CONFLICT

Subtle Efforts being Made To Build Up Sentiment In America

United States into the row. It continues over there at long range. And it is quietly busy right here at home, especially in Washington, and other important centers where people of influence are wont to congregate.

I was abroad before we came into the last conflict. England was an uncomfortable spot for a Yankee because of the deep resentment at our neutrality. The British people thought, and undoubtedly quite honestly, that we ought to be in the war, and they never have forgiven us for not getting started earlier. Those were the days when I heard President Wilson hissed by a British cinema assemblage in Bombay — and the unfortunate American consul was present.

All these things are exceedingly unpleasant to write about. However, it does seem necessary that the American public should be advised that this wooden horse is in our midst. The idea, of course, is to build up a pro-allied sentiment to the point where we will be stampeded by some "incident" and discover when we have cooled off that we have landed ourselves squarely in the middle of Europe's new war.

HONOR HOWELL AT SCOUT FETE

troops, with a total membership of about 150, and the movement is growing. Just recently Cub packs were organized for the younger boys who are eager to become scouts but who have not reached the age qualification.

Undoubtedly Eddie's success as scout commissioner lies in the fact that he likes boys, he likes to associate with them, and believe it or not, he understands them better than many others would—despite the fact that he does not see them physically. Fellow scout leaders will attest to that fact.

Constantly With Boys

The likable Eddie is constantly associating with them—in camp, at troop meetings, at boards of review, at dinners, on the street, anywhere—in fact—where some good might be done to aid the boys in their scout work.

Scouting is his one and only hobby and far be it from Eddie to remain idly at home.

Howell's first attempt was to put scouting on a solid foundation after he assumed the role of commissioner here. He picked his leaders, ones who stuck to the job, and gradually improvement was noted in troops.

All these things are exceedingly unpleasant to write about. However, it does seem necessary that the American public should be advised that this wooden horse is in our midst.
